Vital-Office® Bamboo Office - a selection of sustainable solid wood office furniture

"Will you easily cut trees which have grown for 200 years? Do you easily take away our childrens heritage? Just for a good look and face of expensiveness?

In the past I was used to walk and ride my horse through beautiful forests with old oak and beach trees. But within the last 15 years many of them are cut. Too many! The feeling in the forests now is different. I would like my children and grandchildren to enjoy forests with big old trees. With bamboo, which grows to full size within only 5 years, we have an alternative." - Peter Jordan

Bamboo solid wood for green furniture

In the Vital-Office Concept (published as book) the objectives and influence factors of human stress-free and healthy Office design is defined. Among other things it is assumed that the value of our environment affects the quality of our work. The psychological factors involved are complex. ... The desk is a tool that allows you to work with ease and same time is influencing your attitude at work. It is the heart piece of office furniture.

The advantage of a desktop in bamboo solid wood is in the sustainability and quality, combined with an affordable price.

- The advantage for the entrepreneur is improved quality of work, mindfulness, and attractiveness.
- The advantage for the employee is appreciation and "feel good".

In addition to many professionals, as well as small and medium-sized companies also well-known corporations such as Kärcher, Jungheinrich and H.C. Starck have chosen Vital-Office ® Bamboo Office.

Wey chair - saddle like ergonomic office chair

Higher level sitting - ease communication at the workplace

Beside the healthy upright sitting position, there are much more advantages using saddle-like WEY-chairs. Used together with height adjustable desks, they significantly can increase collaboration and communication in an office. Foster teamwork and emotional qualities within a corporate culture. Additionally enhance the dynamics within an office, while people stand-up more easily and frequently.

This is achieved by lifting all office desk's heights to a higher level, which is closer to a stand-up position.

With a saddle-like WEY-chair together with a height adjustable Vital-Office desk, you already sit in a much higher position. The desk is usually adjusted to 800-900mm height, depending on person's size. The WEY-chair also has a higher gas-spring and the forward tilted saddle like seat cushion, which makes it comfortable to sit in such a high position.

Like a horse rider, you easily stand-up. Your muscles are active during seating. The rocking motion build in the WEY-chair mechanic let you move like on a rocking chair with your feet moving up and down. This constant moving with the feet and thus the activation of the calf muscles, is a circulation pump. Doctors describe the calf muscles as peripheral heart. You support your cardiovascular function significantly. Together with the gas-spring's buffer cushion feature you are lifted up easily, like a horse lifts it's rider in a jog trot.
